CHALLENGES

There were a variety of challenges that Ms. Linick wanted to overcome; however, when asked, she emphasized the most important one to her:

The freedom of doing business anytime, anywhere.

"I wanted to stop driving all over town to work with my clients," Ms. Linick expressed. "I heard Rob Chandler (CEO, Cloudnine Realtime) speak at the 2007 Sleeter Conference about the power of adopting cloud computing. I decided that hosted QuickBooks with offsite document storage was the wave of the future. I needed to get on board - and I did!"

SOLUTIONS

Cloudnine Realtime was able to enhance a number of Linick Consulting's competitive advantages through their adoption of cloud technology.

Linick Consulting now has full access to client data files using the Desktop version of QuickBooks from their offices. This anytime, anywhere access means they no longer have to go onsite to work with clients. Clients also have access to their files, making collaboration seamless.

They now have "turn-key" document management and disaster recovery plans through online, offsite, secure storage, including easy filing and search capability.

Linick Consulting now experiences enhanced efficiency and client satisfaction. Data file transfers have been eliminated now that live data is available to both client and Linick Consulting at all times.

"The thing I appreciate most about Cloudnine Realtime is that they actually listen to client feedback. This improves their overall systems and services."
